Coordinator of international contacts department, Translator/Interpreter · Armtek · Minsk

July 2013 - July 2017 · 4 years 1 month

This position became my school of life and work. I mastered communication with people of any role, gender, and age, learnt to prioritize amid a chaos, and solve issues even when it was near to impossible. My responsibilities were:

- Active communication with business partners by email and phone
- Translation of business correspondence, contracts, and technical documents (EN->RU, RU->EN)
- Interpreting of business meetings (also at exhibitions) and seminars
- Taking over the colleague's full share of work during their vacation
- Working with databases (CRM + DMS)

During 4 years of fun and hard work:

- I managed over 100 active accounts and leads
- I visited two exhibitions where I communicated with dozens of manufacturers and dealers daily
- I understood that people were the most important part of any business and did my best to build trusted relationships both with the colleagues from different offices and foreign partners from all over the world (half of whom I was lucky to meet personally)

- I onboarded new colleagues
- My inbox was always left empty at the end of the day
